

Procedure: Installing AVGFree Version 7

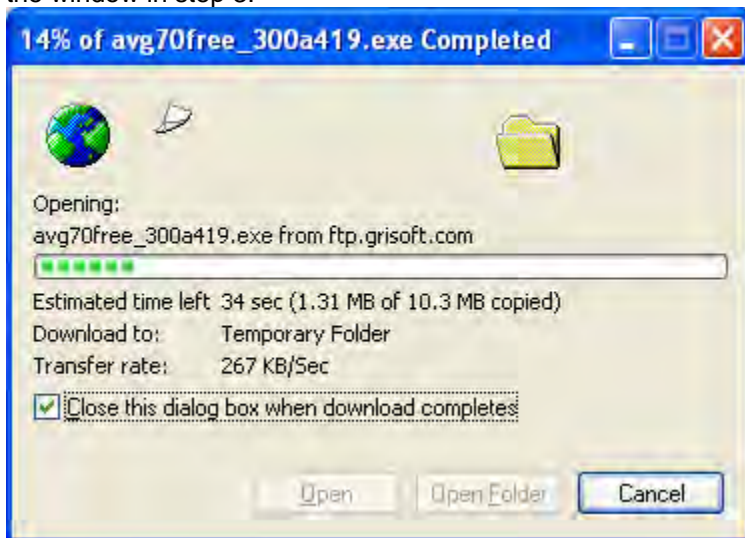

You might want to print this page for reference; however there are 17+ steps to this procedure so I am not responsible for Ink & paper use!

Click the link supplied from my web site on <http://computers2u.com/support/AVGFree7.htm>

1. This first window means you have established contact with the AVG server and are about to download the file. Select Run.

2. This is the progress screen. Depending on how fast your connection to the internet is this screen could take several minutes. Wait for the progress bar to get to 100% then you should see the window in step 3.

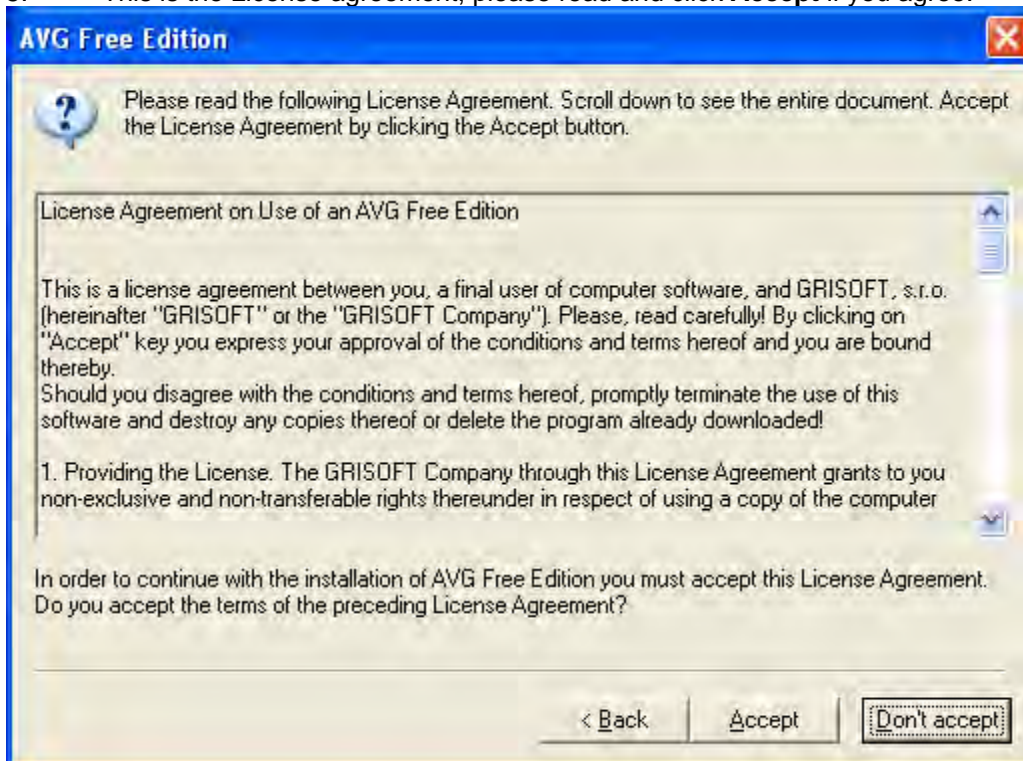

3. Click Run.

4. Please read this screen and click Next.

5. This is the License agreement, please read and click Accept if you agree.

6. Again click Accept to agree to the terms of the License.

7. This is the installation progress window. Please wait for it to finish and see Step 8.

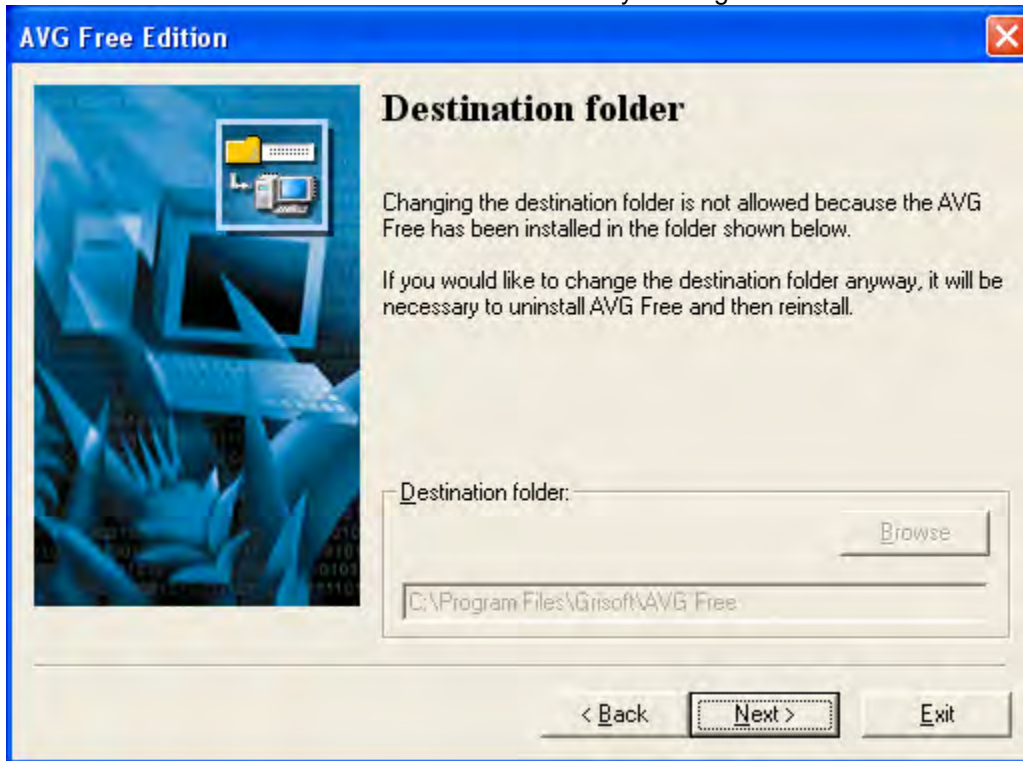

8. At this time you might see a screen telling you that a previous version of AVG was found and will be removed. Select Next.

9. This is the Confirmation window. The User Name field will contain the name you are logged in as on your computer. The License Number will be automatically entered. Click Next.

10. Please use the default installation location by clicking Next.

11. This window allows you to select which components you want to install. I suggest you install all of them. Click Next.

12. The Personal E-Mail scanner will keep most E-Mail programs safe. Outlook Express and Outlook can be configured later. Click Next.

13. This is a summary of the installation. Click Next.

14. Click OK.

15. The program has been fully installed and is running. Now you must take a minute to make sure you have all the latest updates for this version. Make sure you are connected to the internet and click the big button to the left of Check for Updates.

16. Select the Update button.

17. Once the update has completed click the OK button. Repeat steps 15 through 16 until there are no more updates to be added.

You are done!
